DATA PROTECTION OFFICER

The Data Protection Officer will play an important role in how Advanzia identifies compliance risks and meets its compliance and regulatory obligations. You will provide expertise on all data protection-related matters within the scope of the Legal & Compliance department, both within the team as well as to internal stakeholders. You will also be in charge of strengthening the data protection function by contributing to internal projects. This opportunity is a full-time CDI contract.

ABOUT THE JOB | What will you do?

As a Data Protection Officer, you will be responsible for the following activities:

- Act as the primary point of contact on data protection matters for employees, regulators and all relevant public bodies
- Ensure the bank's policy continues to be in accordance with General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and codes of practice
- Evaluate the existing data protection framework, rectify potential issues and ensure full compliance
- Devise training plans and provide data protection advice and support for employees
- Inform and advise the bank on all matters related to data protection
- Promote a culture of data protection compliance across all departments and teams
- Handle potential data breaches and coordinate data protection notifications

ABOUT YOU | What's your background?

- University degree in law, or an equivalent degree/alternatively relevant professional experience in a comparable function
- Confirmed professional experience in an international environment (banking and/or financial industry)
- Specialisation or certification in data protection
- Good understanding and knowledge of the Luxembourg financial industry, legal and regulatory environment
- Very good understanding of banking products and the financial industry
- Expertise in European data protection laws and practices including an in-depth understanding of GDPR
- Good command of MS Office, in particular Word, Excel and PowerPoint
